

AUSTRALIA:

EAT

It's recommended for tourists, who are set out on a journey, to try out bush tucker fruit, which is native to Australians and is used in authentic cuisine.

During the day many locals eat fish and seafood. If you don't mind being bogged down with economic details, it happens because this type of food is produced in huge amounts by fishing companies and therefore it is reasonably priced.

PRAY

Australians pray that tropical forests with the unique fauna are well-preserved, because there have been terrible fires and wildlife has had a bit of a nightmare for the last few years.

If you are on a quest of self-discovery, participate in a big wave surfing event, which attracts surfers to Australian spotlessly clean beaches and creates a romantic atmosphere. Even if you suck at surfing, it's a must-see attraction.

LOVE

Fall in love with the most hospitable cities of Australia: Melbourne, Brisbane, Sydney. Even though buying accommodation in Sydney may be an uphill struggle for many, because the cost of apartments could be a rip off, they provide a breathtaking view at the cobbled streets of the city, which is often overrun with tourists.
